ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An X-ray digital tomographic image taking apparatus which divides the course from the start to end of tomographic image taking into a plurality of sections differing in quality of irradiated X-rays and creates a plurality of tomographic images from the image data differing in quality of X-rays. It also calculates a subtraction image from the plurality of tomographic images.